

Create Your Own Articling Position: a Virtual Chat

January 15, 2021

Still seeking an articling position for the 2021-2022 articling term?

Sign up for the TLA's "Create Your Own Articling Position: a Virtual Chat" program on January 15, 2021 to hear from a career services expert and young lawyers who have found creative ways to generate their own articling positions. Both perspectives from the Ontario law school graduate and NCA experience will be covered.

Learn how to find potential employers, perfect your application materials and improve your interviewing skills. This program includes a Q&A session, so bring your questions for our speakers!

This event is free for Law school students who are Friends of the TLA. Registration is required to receive the instructions to sign in to the program.

Speakers:

Anna Maria DeCia-Gualtieri, Director of Career Services at the University of Windsor

Margaret Pak, Partner at Walker, Sorenson

Sahil Razdan, Associate at Torkin Manes LLP

Moderator:

Jennifer Arduini, Associate Lawyer at Dutton Brock
