You're a newly called lawyer and get a call from your first potential client who is in custody, awaiting bail. What practical steps should you take to bring a bail hearing and how can you ensure a successful hearing?

Once your client is released and you've obtained disclosure, it's time to conduct a crown pre-trial and a judicial pre-trial. What are the factors to consider? What steps should you take in preparation and what should you seek to achieve from these pre-trials?

Finally, it's time for trial and you have a number of pre-trial Charter applications. What are some tips to get your application to stand out and ensure you have the best chance possible for a successful application?

Join us to hear from a Judge, Justice of the Peace, Crown Attorney and Defence Lawyer on practical tips and mistakes to avoid in your early years of practice as a criminal lawyer.
